March 2022 (Boston) — Time Out Market Boston, Fenway's premier food and cultural hall, welcomes SOURCE by owner Daniel Roughan to its all-star lineup. Opening later this month, gourmands alike can enjoy wood-fired, Neapolitan-style pizza made fresh with locally sourced ingredients and their famous "Mother" sourdough crust.

SOURCE first opened its doors in Harvard Square in November 2020 at the height of the pandemic. Fast forward two years later, their famous pepperoni pizza has since garnered a diehard following, becoming one of the most "Instagrammed pizzas in New England."

"At SOURCE, 'we crust' and ensure our pizzas are made utilizing local and sustainable products and only the purest ingredients. 95% of our ingredients come from local purveyors and farms within 100 miles of Boston. Even our dough is made with yeast harvested from a local brewery —a recipe Executive Chef and Partner Brian Kevorkian and I began perfecting in 2018 and still use today, said owner Daniel Roughan. We are excited to bring our pizzas to Time Out Market, a perfect fit as we expand across the city. Being in the Fenway neighborhood with baseball as America's favorite pastime and pizza as America's favorite cuisine makes for a home run for all!"

On the menu, Market-goers can expect a modern take on pepperoni pizza, topped with wood charred red onions and drizzled vin cotto, The Fenway with smoke ricotta, sweet sausage, red onion, sweet potatoes, two eggs and garlic truffle aioli, along with the Tuscan Kale, a vegetarian edition with roasted maitake mushrooms, goat cheese and Mike's hot honey. Also on the menu will be a Time Out Market exclusive pizza called the "Get tha lobster kid!" served with 7 ounces of Main lobster, bacon, red onion, roasted peppers, tartar sauce and lettuce. Those seeking a "build your own" option can also add toppings of their choice to
